

Module 4- Rationale

When creating the map for my site, I tried to keep in mind what its purpose would be serving and who would be viewing my portfolio. Because my site would be displaying my different forms of work and capabilities to potential employers and the like, I tried to use an easily navigable and simple design. For inspiration, I viewed some of MSU's Professional Writing alumni portfolios to gather ideas and thoughts about what I did and did not want to do with my own site. I would like to have a brief "About Me" section on the Home page along with my presence in social media so that viewers are able to gain some insight about me and my stances right off the bat and contact me with ease. I first thought about the content I might want to include and how those reflected and described me. This is how I decided on my pages (Writer, Artist, etc.). I decided to have a videos page with the video project I created and feel is relevant in mind. I also decided to include my resume on its own page furthest to the left since I feel that it is an aspect on my site that should be highlighted and placed on the forefront.
